

HTML tt tag

 w3schools.com/tags/tag_tt.asp

Not Supported in HTML5.

The `<tt>` tag was used in HTML 4 to define teletype text.

What to Use Instead?

Consider the `<kbd>` element (for keyboard input), the `<var>` element (for variables), the `<code>` element (for computer code), the `<samp>` element (for computer output), or use CSS instead.

Example

Define a teletype/monospace font for a `` element (with CSS):

```
This text is monospace text.
```

In our CSS tutorial you can find more details about specifying the type of font in a document.